

Fact: A footballer can earn £100,000 a week. A mechanic earns roughly £25,000 a year

This House Believes That Footballers Are Paid Too Much Money

- Do lots of people like football?
- Where do footballers' wages come from?
- Does it take a long time to become a successful footballer?
- How do we decide how much people are paid?
- If footballers were paid less, where would that money go?
- Is it expensive to go to a football match?
- Do other people, like nurses or teachers, deserve to earn more money?
- If lots of people like football, does that mean footballers deserve what they earn?
- Do all footballers get paid the same amount?
- How much do female footballers get paid?
- What do footballers spend all their money on?
- Would you like to be a footballer?
- Do lots of people play sport because they want to become sports stars?
- Do people look up to footballers?
- How long do footballers' careers last for?

What jobs deserve to get paid the most money?

-
-
-
-

Fact: 3.2 billion people watched the 2014 FIFA World Cup, with 1 billion people watching the final

Fact: The best-paid female footballers in the UK earn around £36,000. Teachers get paid, on average, £27,000.